THE GUARDIAN

Central bank holds rates steady as inflation eases for third month

Policymakers voted 7–2 to keep the cash rate unchanged, citing a gradual cooling in services inflation and a softer labour market. Markets now price a first cut in early spring, though the governor warned against reading too much into a single quarter.

Coastal towns trial car-free weekends to ease summer congestion

Three councils will close their seafront roads on Saturdays and Sundays through March, with extra shuttle buses running from park-and-ride sites.

ARS TECHNICA · Yesterday 22:15 · AI

New e-ink panels promise colour at half the power draw

The display maker says its next generation of electrophoretic screens refreshes in under 200ms and holds an image with zero power, making it a candidate for tablets, shelf labels and transit signage.

Lighthouse of Alexandria

Ancient lighthouse in Alexandria, Egypt

The Lighthouse of Alexandria, sometimes called the Pharos of Alexandria, was a lighthouse built by the Ptolemaic Kingdom during the reign of Ptolemy II Philadelphus (280–247 BC). It has been estimated to have been at least 100 metres in overall height. One of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, for many centuries it was one of the tallest man-made structures in the world.
